Education & Outreach
Archives have the power to make us think!
ok lets show the results

Moderator (Ian Nairn): ok

Moderator (Ian Nairn): dont forget to vote in the classroom too

Moderator (Ian Nairn): good

Moderator (Mr Payne 1): Niamh would you please ask your question

Moderator (Ian Nairn): andrew thats great just lost you for a minutes

Moderator (Ian Nairn): niamh is in the classroom i believe

Hannah Brown: what does it feel like walking into battle across no mans land
Benjamin Bristow
Thomas Knight Glass
Alma Spencer
Empty
x John Bibby Turner
x Thomas Harriner Baker

TNA Ref: E 170/252
Discovery Education Broadcast
National School Assembly
270,000 students - 3,700 schools - 20 countries
Tudor Study Day
Developing Creative Responses

The National Archives

SOMME TALES

a film screening
Tuesday 25 October | 19:30 - 21:00
at The National Archives

The National Archives

SUFFRAGE TALES

Tuesday 13 February 2018
18:00-19:30

The Chronicles of the Dissolution
Piety, Plunder and Protest

A Graphic Arts Project
In partnership with The National Archives
Family Learning Events
Professional Development for Teachers & Archivists
James I

What were the key areas of dispute?

- Teachers' notes
  - James I's extravagance
  - Seizure of relics
  - Conference conclusions
  - Arguments for union

- Introduction
  - Gift Giving
  - Law for recusants
  - Local religious tension
  - Arguments against union

- External links
  - Book of rates
  - The Bye Plot
  - Examination of Henry Garnet
  - James I on union
  - Translation of the Bible
  - Religious conformity
  - Union with Scotland
  - Peace with Spain
  - Crown and papacy
  - Hampton Court Conference
  - Opinions on union
  - Jamestown
Reaching Out to New Audiences

‘The troops could no longer be relied upon...’
I loved the fact that children became historians and were looking at the various sources of information to discover things for themselves.

I have been to workshops at IWM and Parliament in the past year. In terms of what you asked the pupils to do… this was undoubtedly the best.

It felt so much more real than learning from text-books.

A level student

GCSE Teacher

Primary Teacher
...we were all left a bit gobsmacked!
Questions?