CALLINGTON MUSEUM

Liskeard Road, Callington, Cornwall PL17 9EU

This report on the holdings of Callington Museum arises from a survey of archives in museums in Devon and Cornwall on behalf of the Museums and Galleries Commission with support from the Royal Commission on Historical Manuscripts, January - April 1995. (Museums and Archives, a Museums and Galleries Commission Report (provisional title), researched by Clare Conybeare and Anita Travers)

Callington Museum is an independent museum, set up in June 1994 by the Callington Museum Trust, and is housed in a former chapel of rest. Run by volunteers, it is directed by a Museum Management Committee and is supported by the Callington Local History Group, members of which own most of the collection.

The archive collection includes about 20 original deeds and wills from 1794, and a number of photocopies, about 50 maps, five letter books and a 1909-11 cash book for the Prince of Wales Mine, Harrowbarrow, about 25 property sale catalogues, 500 posters printed locally by Vennings, 400 photographs and 137 postcards, a blacksmith's day book and accounts c1900-20, Kit Hill Mine reports, a Methodist preacher's diary of 1929, ten apprenticeship indentures, and a large number of local guidebooks, yearbooks, local histories, church guides, school and parish magazines, local newsletters, and material relating to town twinning, royal celebrations, town twinning and Callington, South Australia.

A local history project has accumulated a number of transcripts, such as the 1841 tithe award and 1881 census.

The archive material is listed on computer, by a coding scheme used by the local history group before deposit. Accession numbers will ultimately supersede this. A print-out follows.
